

Production according to social and environmental rules - from farm to fork

Strategic commitment to sustainability

Reliable

We take the quality of our products into our own hands right from the start and define the production standards of our suppliers. The Groneweg Gruppe controls every step of the production process from cultivation and harvesting to delivery - "from farm to fork".

Exemplary

In our family run business, ethical values are of particular importance. Partnership, success management, transparency and fairness characterize the "soul" of the Groneweg Gruppe. We maintain a constructive and trusting dialogue both with customers and suppliers - on a technical and commercial level. Products of the highest quality and long term success in business can only be achieved by working together.

Sustainable

By sustainability we mean the environmentally friendly cultivation of raw materials, careful use of natural resources as well as an ethically correct way of working with employees. Our strategic direction is always in harmony with man and nature. Social and environmental rules have always had a central role at the Groneweg Gruppe and this we expect also from our suppliers, alliance and production partners. For some of our renowned clients the issue of sustainability is increasingly becoming a central focus. We believe that the issue is also gaining increasing importance worldwide. We work with customers and suppliers on various sustainability programs. Through an intense debate on this issue along the value chain, it will be possible to produce and distribute healthy foodstuffs in sufficient quantities for many decades. Of course we do not only comply with and enforce laws and policies, but also aim to meet the standards set by BSCI, ILO, UN, OECD, and ETI. Additionally we get involved with our suppliers concerning the compliance with social standards. The Groneweg Gruppe has also been a member of SEDEX (Supplier Ethical Data Exchange) for some years. We see SEDEX as a key part of our responsible procurement. In July 2012, October 2015, and November 2018 our company successfully underwent a SMETA. This commitment promotes forward thinking and action, and thus sustainability.

Greven, 10 November 2021

Signature General Management